CIVIL SOCIETY DRIVING CHANGE: TOWARDS A NEW QUALITY OF THE AFRICA-EUROPE PARTNERSHIP

Hybrid Africa-Europe Civil Society Conference 2020

In 2021, the African and European Heads of State and Government will meet in Brussels to adopt a new strategy that guides the partnership between our two continents for the years to come. Although the AU-EU Summit was meant to take place this October and become a highlight of Germany’s current EU Council Presidency, its postponement to next year provides the chance for civil society to set its own priorities for an inclusive, fair and sustainable partnership.

As one of the few political actors engaged from the grassroots to the international level, civil society can meaningfully contribute to the Africa-Europe Partnership by providing innovative insights based on the realities of the people on both continents.

With civil society being an important bridge between the distant AU-EU policy processes and the well-being of people on the ground, our conference will provide the space to develop new civil society approaches for a revised Joint Africa-Europe Strategy that actually helps to improve people’s living conditions.

The policy fields in which Africa and Europe would both benefit from closer collaboration and a fair partnership are constantly increasing: They include the need for radical climate change measures; equitable trade relations; rural development and nutrition; functioning social protection and health care systems; the creation of legal migration routes; intergenerational and gender justice, among others.

The Africa-Europe Civil Society Conference 2020 will demonstrate in practical terms that the partnership between Africa and Europe is more than just a formal process between governments. With digital instruments enabling intercontinental cooperation and inclusion even in times of a pandemic, we invite you to be part of a unique African-European civil society exchange.
